Bear Creek Watershed-Scale Stormwater Plan

King County is required to conduct a watershed-scale stormwater planning effort to satisfy permit obligations under section (S5.C.5.c) in the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Phase I Municipal Stormwater Permit issued by the Washington State Department of Ecology, effective August 1, 2013 through July 31, 2018, modified January 16, 2015.

The watershed-scale plan will include assessments of the landscape based on historic, existing, and projected future conditions. Stormwater management strategies will be evaluated for stream health based on stream hydrology, water quality, and aquatic biota (life forms). Also expected is an implementation plan having estimated costs and identified potential funding mechanisms.

During the 2015-2016 biennium it is expected that the monitoring, modeling and most of the stormwater mitigation/restoration strategies will be completed during that time frame.

- Ecology has revised the NPDES permit requirements effective as of January 16, 2015. A new Scope of Work will be submitted no later than November 4, 2015. In addition, a coordination document will be submitted to Ecology no later than August 13, 2015.
- Public involvement will occur through website updates, emailing's, and workshops held through the planning process.
- Draft watershed plan to be submitted to Ecology by April 4, 2018.

Bear-Evans Fecal Coliform Total Daily Maximum Daily Load (FC TMDL) and the County's Stormwater Conveyance System

Segments of Bear and Evans Creeks exceed water quality standards for fecal coliform bacteria (Bear-Evans Watershed Fecal Coliform Bacteria Total Maximum Daily Load, Water Quality Improvement Report, June 2008, Ecology Publication No. 08-10-026). Under Appendix 2 of the NPDES Phase I Municipal Stormwater Permit 2013-2018, King County is required to complete field screening for bacteria sources in portions of the Bear-Evans Creek watershed by February 2, 2017. This bacterial field screening is related to the County's stormwater conveyance system. Such screening is called "illicit discharge detection and elimination" or "IDDE" in the Permit.

Land areas that contribute high levels of bacteria to surface and shallow groundwater—such as failing septic systems, improperly handled horse manure, and/or dog and other domestic animal feces—could negatively impact the County stormwater conveyance system. Much of the County stormwater system of course outflows to the creeks, so finding and fixing sources of high bacterial levels in the stormwater system will aid in lowering the bacterial levels in the creeks.

King County Stormwater Services personnel have begun planning Bear-Evans bacteria screening or "IDDE" work, including coordinating with County mapping staff to select appropriate sample points to test bacterial levels in stormwater system. King County Water & Land Resources Division staff, including Science & Technical Support and Stormwater Services sections, will implement field and office tasks related to this Permit requirement, including conducting various sampling and analytical efforts.

King County Stormwater Services' work program to find and help eliminate high bacteria levels in our stormwater system will be much aided by the actions of informed citizens who care about improving natural water quality.

Sammamish River Transition Zone Vegetation Management and Sediment Removal

Since 2011, WLRD has increased the frequency and intensity of vegetation trimming and mowing in the Sammamish River Transition Zone below the lake. This has had a dramatic effect on increasing flows and reducing lake levels in the winter time. Following completion of the reed canary grass/ sediment removal in 2013, routine maintenance such as mowing and vegetation trimming is planned for 2015.

- Vegetation/mowing trimming was completed in summer 2013. Sediment was removed in the upper half of the channel. Monitoring on-going winter 2015.

Metro TransitService Guidelines Task Force

In 2010, King County formed a Regional Transit Task Force which recommended that Metro create objective, data-based guidelines for planning and managing transit service. Metro responded to this recommendation, and the King County Council adopted Metro's strategic plan and service guidelines in July 2011.

Now, after several years' use of the service guidelines in transit planning, the King County Council has asked Metro to form a new task force to further analyze how transit service is evaluated and allocated. Specifically, the Council asked the task force to review and make recommendations regarding:

1. How transit service performance is measured to reflect the varied purposes of different types of transit service.
2. Approaches to evaluating how the goal of geographic value is included in the guidelines, including minimum service standards.
3. Approaches to evaluating how the goal of social equity is included in the guidelines.
4. Financial policies for purchase of additional services within a municipality or among multiple municipalities.
5. Guidelines for alternative services implementation.

The Service Guidelines Task Force, comprised of 33 executive level participants, will do this work in the first part of 2015 so that it can influence development of both Metro's long-range plan, scheduled to be complete by mid-2016, and its service

Metro Long Range Plan

With King County growing fast, it's time to lay the foundation for a public transportation system that moves more people and moves them better. What should our transit system look like in 25 years? How can we support our economy, our environment, and the people who live here? How will Metro integrate with the expanding light rail system? These are the kind of questions that captured the imagination of civic leaders years ago, and their vision led to the public transportation system we rely on today. Now it's time to imagine a new future.

Metro's long range plan will present a shared vision for a future public transportation system that gets people where they want to go and helps our region thrive. The plan will describe an integrated network of transportation options, the facilities and technology needed to support those services, and the financial requirements for building the system. It will be developed in close coordination with Sound Transit and other transportation agencies.

Over the next two years, Metro will work with transit riders, cities, community groups, and motorists to shape a long-range plan for meeting our region's growing and changing public transportation needs.

Current Use Taxation

The Public Benefit Rating System and the Timber Land programs provide incentives to encourage landowners to voluntarily conserve and protect land resources, open space, and timber. In return for preserving and managing resources, the land is assessed at a value consistent with its "current use" rather than the "highest and best use." The reduction in assessed land value is greater than 50 percent and as much as 90 percent for the portion of the land participating in the program.

King County Sheriff's Office

The King County Sheriff's Office consists of over 1,000 commissioned and professional staff employees who provide services to unincorporated King County. These services include reactive 9-1-1 patrol, search & rescue, undercover drug and gang enforcement, property crime investigations, homicide, assault, robbery and sexual assault investigations, as well as a variety of other services including concealed weapons licensing, fingerprinting, etc.

Under Sheriff Urquhart's leadership, the Sheriff's Office transitioned to a Precinct Model for deploying deputies beginning in 2013. This returned formal roll calls and gave sergeants the opportunity to work with their deputies on crime trends, protocol, procedure, and values.

Deputies are now assigned to fairly consistent patrol areas. This allows them to become familiar with citizens, businesses, and residential areas in their assigned patrol districts. They are expected to build relationships and learn the particular problems in an area or neighborhood, as well as focus on crime trends.

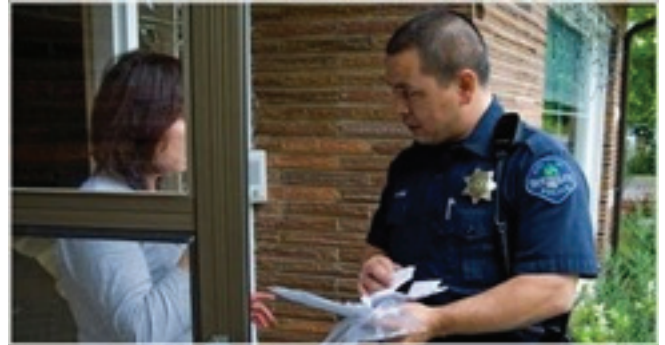

Precincts are referred to as Precincts #2, #3, & #4...or Northeast, Southeast, and Southwest, respectively. Precinct #2 is in Sammamish City Hall, Precinct #3 is in the Hicks Raburn Precinct building in Maple Valley, and Precinct #4 is in Burien.
